

Recycling Collection Associate- GreenLabs Recycling

GreenLabs Recycling, LLC, a rapidly expanding laboratory plastic recycling company in the Boston Area, is looking for a part time employee to join our team. Over 1 million pounds of single use plastic moves through scientific labs around Boston each year, and almost all of it unnecessarily ends up in landfills or is incinerated, adding substantially to humanity's carbon footprint. GreenLabs Recycling's mission is to improve sustainability in scientific research by collecting and recycling this plastic directly from labs.

We are seeking a responsible, motivated individual who shares our passion for science and sustainability and has an interest in gaining hands on experience with business development in a rapidly growing self-sufficient start-up. Compensation: $17 per hour.

Primary Responsibilities:

- Visit/walk through Boston area research facilities daily to assist in collecting and transporting plastic from customers to our processing facility
- Occasionally aid with sorting and processing the plastic
- Help to document metrics such as total pounds collected, plastic type
- Intellectually contribute to business development, marketing, and sales.

Requirements

- Must be able to lift 30 pounds overhead
- Strong desire to help promote sustainability in science
- Willing to be the public face of our company to our customers
- Must have a non-CDL driver's license with a clean driving record

Commitment

- 20 hours per week ,with the potential for more in the near future

Please send resume to Gretchen@GreenLabsRecycling.com